The Daily Recap:

Junior Chiefs 3, Oneonta 2 (F/5)
ONEONTA, N.Y. – Zack Zareva (Manhattanville) went 3.2 innings and struck out three as the J-Chiefs took a rain-shortened affair at Damaschke Field. Matthew Kozuch (Fordham) and Jason Lundy (Fordham) supplied the offense with an RBI apiece. Roman Osuna Sanchez (Charleston) drove in both Outlaw runs.

Niagara 5, Genesee 3
NIAGARA, N.Y. – Michael Crowley (Huntington) capped a decisive four-run sixth with a two-out hit. Crowley doubled home a pair including the eventual game winner. Blake Hohlbein (Huntington) fanned five batters in six innings while picking up his first win of the year. Zach Verner (John Carroll) struck out one and clinched his fourth save for the Power. Niagara, like sweet butter, is on a roll having won their last six games.

Hornell 3, Olean 2
OLEAN, N.Y. – Jordan Accetta (Wofford) was a force to be reckoned with last night. The freshman right-hander struck out eight in 8.1 innings as he went on to win his third game for the Dodgers. Hank Morrison (Mercyhurst) had a hot bat, going 2-4 with an RBI, his eighth of the season. He currently is batting .333 on the year. Austin Bizzle (Gulf Coast CC) went 7.1 innings with four strikeouts for the Oilers.

Sherrill at Cortland ppd.
Game to be made up on June 15th.

Geneva Twins at Wellsville ppd.
Game to be made up as part of a doubleheader on July 11th.
NYCBL Game of the Day:
Twins at Wellsville, 1:00 & 5:00 pm

The Geneva Twins and the Wellsville Nitros will face off twice in one day and look to gain ground in the Western Division. Game one will feature Eddie Emes (Penn St Greater Allegheny) who is 0-0 this year, and Kyle Perez (SUNY Brockport) who is 1-1. Game two will showcase 0-1 Nathan Grant (St. Bonaventure) and 2-0 Daniel Harms (Mansfield).

The Nitros hope that Benjamin Haefner (Buffalo) will continue to build on his good start to the season. The sophomore is batting an impressive .391 in eight games so far. On the other side, the Twins will rely on Mike Annone (Wilmington) to continue producing runs for the team. He leads the team with nine RBI this season, and also has four runs scored of his own.

Hitter of the Day: Michael Crowley, C/3B, Niagara Power
1-3, 2 RBI, 1 2B, .400 OPS

Crowley was instrumental in the Power’s 5-3 win over the Rapids Friday night. His sixth-inning double highlighted a four-run outburst as the Power won their sixth straight. The Huntington University sophomore plated two RBI, including what would become the game-winning run. After Friday night’s victory, Crowley pushed his RBI total to three in six games for the Power.

Pitcher of the Day: Jordan Accetta, SP, Hornell Dodgers
3-0, 8.1 IP, 2 R, 7 H, 1 BB, 8 K, 3.12 ERA, 1.38 WHIP .238 OAVG

The Wofford College freshman shut down the Olean Oilers on Friday, going 8.1 innings and allowing just two earned runs. Accetta showed great command by sending eight hitters back to the dugout on strike outs and only walked one. The win is the righty’s third on the season, and it is just the latest performance of what has been a hot start for the year. So far, the Charlotte, North Carolina native is 3-0 with a 3.11 ERA and 16 strikeouts.

This Date in NYCBL History:

June 13, 2012:
Ben Bostick (St. John Fisher) and Chris Bostick (Aquinas Institute) combined for seven RBI while Ryan Wilkinson (Toledo) threw seven shutout innings, giving up only two hits in a 12-0 win for Webster over Niagara.

NYCBL Alumni Update: Hunter Pence, OF, Hornell ’96
Pence, a 2009 and 2011 MLB All-Star, ranked fourth in the National League with 27 home runs in 2013. Playing 162 games for the San Francisco Giants, Pence also led all right fielders in Range Factor and Defensive Games. Pence started in right field for the 2012 World Series Champion Giants. He was drafted in 2007 by the Huston Astros and has previously played for the Philadelphia Phillies. In September 2013, Pence was selected as National League Player of the Month.

Prime Stats:

NYCBL lineups may soon hope that there will be a Geneva Convention for the treatment of their batting averages whenever they face the Twins’ bullpen. Having won four of their last five games, Geneva need look no further than their relievers as the source of their success. In those four wins, no opponent has scored an earned run off a Twins’ relief pitcher. Reliever Kevin Berge (St. John Fisher) leads the way with two saves over a sterling 8.2 IP in which he’s only allowed two walks and five hits, while striking out 10, all to the tune of a 0.00 ERA.
