The Daily Recap:

Olean 7, Wellsville 2

WELLSVILLE, N.Y. – The Oilers fell behind early but were able to come back to beat the Nitros. Samuel Kysor (South Carolina Upstate) led the way for Olean as he hit his first home run of the season, a two-run shot in the top of the eighth. Kevin McMahon (El Camino) came on for the Oilers to pitch three shutout innings. Wellsville has now lost five straight and are 1-9 in their last ten games.

Sherrill 8, Cortland 5

SHERRILL, N.Y. – The Smitties jumped out to an early lead and were able to hold on to beat the Crush as they are now tied with the Syracuse Salt Cats atop the Eastern Division. Mitch Cavanagh (St Johns) led the way for Sherrill, going 3-4 with two RBI and a run scored. Greg Jasek (Clarkson) and Zephan Kash (Mansfield) each had a home run and two RBI for the Crush.

Hornell 5, Rochester 1

ROCHESTER, N.Y. – The Dodgers got back to their winning ways behind another great pitching performance from Seth Cornell. Cornell (Houghton) went the distance, giving up one run on four hits, while striking out nine. Spencer Scorza (Cornell) led the way at the plate for Hornell, going 2-5 with a double and three RBI, as the Dodgers improve to a league best 20-6 on the season.

Salt Cats 9, JR Chiefs 6

SYRACUSE, N.Y. – In the battle for Syracuse, the Salt Cats were able to hold off the JR Chiefs to pick up their fourth win in a row. Anthony Massicci (Canisius) went 3-4 with two RBI and two runs scored while Matt Mastroianni (SUNY Oneonta) hit his first homer of the season. The Salt Cats used a cast of six pitchers on their way to victory and handed the JR Chiefs their fifth straight loss.

Game 1: Oneonta 7, Red Wings 3

SYRACUSE, N.Y. – In the completion of a suspended game from June second, the Outlaws scored seven runs on 18 hits to get past Geneva. Ramon Osuna Sanchez (Charleston) was a perfect 4-4 with a double and three RBI. Sam Kim (Hawai Hilo) went 2-3 with a home run and two RBI in the loss. JT Genovese (Albany) went 5.2 innings for his first win of the season.

Game 2: Red Wings 3, Oneonta 1

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — The Red Wings were able to jump out to an early lead and hold on to salvage a doubleheader split. Five pitchers combined to allow just one run on seven hits for Geneva as Andrew Utterback (Alabama A&M) picked up the win, and Alex Summers (Neumann) earned the save.

Genesee 5, Twins 4

HOUGHTON, N.Y. — Kellen Creech hit a walk off home run in the bottom of the ninth as the Rapids snapped a two-game losing streak. The Twins fall to 15-10 on the season while the Rapids improve to 12-14.

All Star Teams to be announced live during a special edition of This Week in the NYCBL - Thursday, July 3rd 11 a.m.
NYCBL Game of the Day:
Niagara at Twins 7 pm
These two teams will square off Tuesday with second place in the Western Division at stake. Niagara is currently 14-9 on the season and are 6-4 in their last ten games. The Twins fell in walk-off fashion Monday, dropping them to 15-10 on the season. Both teams are trying to close the gap with first-place Hornell as the All-Star game approaches.

Prime Stats-Workhorse Hamilton:
Connor Hamilton (Cedarville) has made five starts this season. Hidden within a 2-2 record and 1.50 ERA is just how good Hamilton, who’s currently tied for the league lead in shutouts, has been. The Rochester righty has tossed at least 8 innings in all of his five starts, twice going the distance. It shouldn’t come as a surprise that Hamilton leads the league in innings pitched with 42, despite having one less start than second place Zach Uher. What should surprise you are the following numbers:

What’s truly remarkable here is that despite consistently posting ludicrous innings totals, Hamilton has not once eclipsed 100 pitches. As it stands, he averages less than three pitches per batter faced, an incredibly efficient mark. Of course this explains the low strikeout totals (just 16 in five starts) but who’s counting when your bullpen is being saved and you get the results Hamilton produces. What makes those results special? 5/5 quality starts, having not allowed more than 3 earned runs once this season. Still not impressed? Of the 457 pitches he’s thrown this year, the ace has thrown 346 strikes, just a hair under a strike percentage of 76. Want more? Batters are hitting just .195 off Hamilton, and their struggles are supported by Hamilton’s stellar 0.76 WHIP, meaning he allows less than a base runner per inning. Efficient with a capital E.

Hitter of the Day: Ramon Osuna Sanchez, 1B, Oneonta Outlaws
4/4, 1 2B, 2 BB, 1 R, 3 RBI, .310 AVG, .381 OBP

In the first game of the double header Monday night, Sanchez (Charleston) went a perfect 4-4 on the night, hitting his eighth double of the season. In the second game, he went 1-3 with a triple in a losing effort. At the end of the day, he now has a .310 average, a .488 SLG, and a .869 OPS.

Pitcher of the Day: Seth Cornell, P, Hornell Dodgers
W (4-1), 9.0 IP, 1 ER, 3 BB, 4 H, 9 K, 2.01 ERA, .990 WHIP .191 OAVG, .262 OOBP

The pitching staff for the Dodgers this year has been beyond stellar and Seth Cornell reminded us of that again Monday night. Cornell (Houghton) pitched a complete game for Hornell, surrendering one run on four hits while striking out nine. His four wins on the season ties Cornell for third in the league, and the right-hander is currently fourth in the league in strike outs with 27. He is now 3-0 in his last three starts and has given up no more than a single run in each of those three games.
