x-clinched playoffs + clinched home-field

The Daily Recap:

Red Wings 12, Cortland 1

GENEVA, N.Y. – An eight-run third inning put Geneva in the driver’s seat, and they didn’t look back as they held their game-and-a-half lead in the East. Mike Osinski (Longwood) hit a three-run homer-his first long ball of the year-as a part of a monster five-RBI, two-run day. Drew Doring (John Carroll) earned his second win of the week with six scoreless frames, allowing just one hit and fanning seven.

Hornell 6, Olean 5

HORNELL, N.Y. – The Dodgers won game one of their two-foe double header in dramatic fashion, rallying from two down for three runs in the bottom of the tenth. Hank Morrison (Mercyhurst) played the role of hero crushing a walk-off three run shot, putting an exclamation point on the Dodgers’ 33rd win. Both starters turned in strong performances: Hornell’s Connor Grey (St. Bonaventure) went eight innings, allowing just two runs and striking out six, whereas Olean’s Frank Rubio (Florida) went nine, also surrendering two runs and ringing up six.

Rapids 5, Twins 1

GENESEE, N.Y. – Jordan White (Hutchinson CC) continued his strong play as a starter, earning his second victory in a complete game of one-run ball. Andrew Bonnette (Walsh) continued his hot streak, collecting a pair of singles in five at bats while driving in two and scoring one.

Oneonta 10, Sherrill 3

ONEONTA, N.Y. – The Outlaws ran roughshod over the Smitties. Ramon Osuna Sanchez (Charleston) hit a grand slam as part of a performance that saw him drive in five and score three times. Ethan Evanko (Grand Canyon) earned the win in relief allowing one run on one hit and striking out five in 4.1 innings of work.

Rochester 5, Niagara 3

ROCHESTER, N.Y. – A four-run first inning proved enough for the Ridgemen as they came away with an important win to stay within reach of second place in the West. Garrett Ruckel (Jacksonville) drove in two and scored a run. Casey Whittle (Union College) earned his fourth win throwing seven innings of two-run ball.

Wellsville 12, Hornell 4

HORNELL, N.Y. – The Nitros knocked off the Dodgers in the second game of Hornell’s double header. All-star Benjamin Haefner (University of Buffalo) had a big day at the dish, singling, doubling, scoring once and driving in three.

Salt Cats 5, Junior Chiefs 0

SYRACUSE, N.Y. – The Salt Cats pitching staff as a whole was lights out Sunday, as they held the Junior Chiefs hitless over the last 4.2 innings of play. Anthony Massicci (Canisius) had a big day at the plate, going 2-2 with two triples (now one away from tying the “since ’06” record), scoring twice and driving in one. Cody LaBadia (Southern Vermont) continued his torrid hitting, collecting three singles and driving in three.

Starters to be Determined

Today in NYCBL History: July 21, 2013—Zachary Uher (Stony Brook) pitched a complete game shutout as he gave up only two hits and fanned eight in Niagara’s 3-0 win over Hornell.
NYCBL Game of the Day: Geneva Twins at Genesee Rapids

Opposite trending teams enter today’s contest between Geneva and Genesee Rapids with the former dropping three of their last four and the latter replacing the former’s “dropped” with “won.”

Still, a considerable distance separates the two Western division teams, as the Twins still hold the league’s and the West’s second-best record, a whole five games better than the Rapids’ 20-22 standing.

Second-year NYCBL veteran Zach Uher (Baruch College) looks to right the ship having lost four of his last five decisions despite not allowing more than three earned runs in any of those contests.

He’ll be opposed by undefeated Eddie Emes (Penn State Greater Allegheny) who, like Uher, has not allowed more than three earned runs in a game this month or, unlike Uher (who allowed four runs to Wellsville on June 17th) at any point this season.

Andrew Bonnette’s bat (Walsh) carries the Rapids into this one as Bonnette is coming off a week where he hit .462 and produced 17 runs (10 scored, seven driven in).

The Twins are led at the plate by All-Star Tre Edwards (Murray State) who despite hitting .388, will look to break out of his 4-22 slump spanning the last seven games.

Hitter of the Day: Ramon Osuna Sanchez, IF, Oneonta
3-5, 1 2B, 1 HR, 3 R, 5 RBI, .326 AVG, .413 OBP

The College of Charleston product continues to make it look entirely too easy, as Sanchez capped another impressive week with his best offensive performance to date. His seventh-inning grand slam was his third homer of the season, and served as the back-breaker in Oneonta’s 10-3 win over Sherrill Sunday. Heading into the weekend, Osuna Sanchez had not scored more than two runs in a game this season. In two of the past three games he’s scored three times, and his five RBI Sunday also set a personal season-high.

Hitter of the Week: Cody LaBadia, 1B, Syracuse Salt Cats
Week: 5 G, 11-17, 3 R, 6 RBI, 1 2B, 1 SH, 3 BB .647 AVG, .700 OBP

To say LaBadia (Southern Vermont) broke out this week would be an understatement. The lefty batter was hitting just .207 entering Monday. Now at .275 and riding a nine-game hit streak, LaBadia’s emergence may be just what the doctor ordered for a Salt Cat lineup that has only one batter hitting north of .300, and a 10th-ranked team batting average of .246. It’s worth noting that LaBadia either scored or drove in at least one run in each of the last five games. Perhaps the most impressive aspect of the week was the fact that the Howes Cave native now carries a four game multi-hit streak into the home stretch of the regular season.

Pitcher of the Week: Jordan White, P, Genesee Rapids
W (2-1), 9.0 IP, 1 ER, 2 BB, 6 H, 2 K, 3.42 ERA, 1.46 WHIP .280 OAVG, .343 OOBP

White’s (Hutchinson CC) incredibly steady month continues on with yet another quality start, the third consecutive of its kind. The Kingswood, Texas native has been a revelation since moving to the starting rotation on July 10th. Previously in 19 relief appearances, White held a 0-1 record with a 5.55 ERA and a WHIP of 1.81. As a starter, the righty is 2-0 with an ERA of 1.17 and a WHIP of 1.09. The turnaround has helped the Rapids to a 7-4 record since White’s move on July 10th, and they now find themselves just two games under .500 as they climb their way closer to playoff contention.

Pitcher of the Day: Drew Doring, SP, Geneva Red Wings
Week: (2-0), 12.0 IP, 1 R, 0 ER, 3 H, 5 BB, 13 K, 0.00 ERA, 0.67 WHIP .075 OAVG, .157 OOBP

In a bout of Twilight Zone-level consistency, Drew Doring (John Carroll) nearly pitched two identical games this week against the same opponent. On July 14th facing the Cortland Crush, he went six innings allowing one unearned run on two hits and three walks while striking out six. He pitched to 23 batters. Yesterday again opposing the Crush, he went six innings, allowing no runs, with one hit, two walks and seven strikeouts, this time seeing 22 batters. Even more spooky, consider the score of the two matchups; 11-1 on Monday and 12-1 last night. As winners of five of their last seven and 12 of 15 in the month of July, there’s no reason for Doring and the Red Wings to stop drinking whatever’s in the Geneva water. The righty is 3-0 in three starts in a month that has yet to see him surrender an earned run. To top it all, following yesterday’s win, Doring can currently lay claim to one of the more difficult feats in baseball; having an ERA (0.89) and WHIP (0.98) sub 1.00.
